

For the College Girl and Her High-School Sister

The style in these suits is Paris style. It is put into the suits by skilful needlework. It is sewn into every garment, stitch by stitch.

Day after day, month after month, you may wear a Wooltex suit and until the very last it will retain that touch of fashion that wins the heart and delights the eye of every appreciative woman.

Part of the style secret of these suits lies in the material of which they are made—special super-quality material with a very thread pure wool—no cotton, no adulteration.

This quality of piece goods can be obtained only in Wooltex garments. Besides the two styles shown here you will find an almost endless variety, not only for school girls, but for matrons and older people, including

- Walking suits in hard finish, fancy suitings, diagonals and broadcloths—some with sheath skirts—many with big buttons.
- Beauclere coats, modified Directoire style—high waist line in back—slashed sides—bias back, a new and pleasing effect.
- Artistic evening wraps of broadcloth in pastel colors, with novel effects in trimmings—some with cretonne trimmings, hand-tinted in water color.
- Long coat suits—high waist lines—trimmings cleverly arranged to add to height and increase slenderness—novel sleeve effects and enormous self-covered buttons.
- Marchioness and Belmore coats—the standard coats, but made better than the standard way. In material, in style, in workmanship, these coats can not be improved.
- Separate skirts which button down to the hem—skirts with side plackets—skirts with front plackets—skirts with habit backs—many in modified Directoire style, opening at one side over placket.
- And suits, coats and skirts in almost endless variety, all snappy Wooltex styles—all durable Wooltex materials—garments that delight the eye and hold their attractiveness till the very end.

Every Wooltex Garment is guaranteed by the makers for two full seasons of satisfactory wear.

Please ask for the Wooltex Style Book. From it you will get the newest and best exclusive fashion pointers. Better still, come in and see the suits themselves, see the styles, see the materials, see the art in designing, see the workmanship. Surely you will want to get the benefit of the best Paris styles when they are lastingly sewn into such serviceable suits as these, and placed within your easy reach at such moderate prices.

The Homer Fitts Co.

For the high-school girl—a double-breasted, half-fitted suit in two shades of gray with red or blue inlays. There is style in every line of this suit and dashing beauty in every curve.

A Change of Season.

Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.

When Miss Jeannette Perkins went to the country for a couple of months in summer it was for the purpose of relaxation. The winter social season with Miss Perkins was her "busy day." Born in the swim, with no expectation of a dowry, it was her business to marry an establishment. None of the young men she had met during the winter—that she could get-filled the measure of her requirements. Some were stupid, some dissipated, some puffed with vanity and none of them quite rich enough. Miss Perkins' social position required as a minimum $10,000 a year, and it was her ambition to land three or four times that amount.

Tired of the social functions which she had constantly felt obliged to attend for a matrimonial purpose, when July came she resolved to go to some middle class resort where she would throw off the artificial and be refreshed by the natural. But even this was a part of her general plan, for she felt that some real love-making would give zest to her abilities as a charmer when engaged in hunting down a millionaire.

Miss Perkins received a heart-freening that she had not bargained for. One Howard Dangler, a recent graduate of a school for civil engineers, talked so enthusiastically of the life work before him and showed so plainly that his career would be the better for her wifely encouragement and affection that she was quite flattered. Not that she had any idea of seriously listening to his bubbling chat—not she—she had no use for love in a cottage and the care of children while her husband would be absent—often for long terms—in various parts of the world fighting his way in his profession. But when, the season being over, they separated on a steamboat landing, the love-light in Miss Perkins' eyes was not all assumed.

But this is a world of change.

It is December. Miss Perkins is handed a card on which is engraved the name of Howard Dangler. A faint change of color comes over her face, followed by indications of resolution. She goes to the drawing room, entering with a cold dignity. It is not July, but December, and Miss Perkins would not be out of season. She extends her hand to her visitor as a queen would extend hers to a subject who has carried her train over a ditch that he may receive his reward.

"How do you do, Mr. Dangler? How good of you to look me up! You are the only one of my summer acquaintances that I have met again."

The words "summer acquaintances" are spoken in an unmistakable tone.

"I have not been to your city before since I met you," stammers Mr. Dangler, "or I would have." Then, seeing that he is making matters worse, he stops and reddens.

Miss Perkins does not help him. Indeed, she sits mute, waiting for him to untangle himself. He goes off into something about "that delightful season," checks himself and, with a touch of melancholy, speaks of the "formal winter," then comes again to a stop. This time Miss Perkins condescends to make a remark.

"Do you remain for some time in the city?"

The words conveyed the idea that she would be willing he should leave by the next train.

By this time Mr. Dangler was beginning to recover himself. When he spoke again it was in a conventional tone, with which he seemed to be quite as familiar as Miss Perkins.

"I shall be here all winter," he said, "but I fear I shall see little of you in society, for I shall be very busy. My aunt, Mrs. Walter Delano, and other relatives and friends are urging me to accept invitations, but—"

"Mrs. Delano!" exclaimed Miss Perkins. "Your aunt!"

"I shall be engaged financing the A., L. and B. railroad, which we are going to build to connect two other roads of our system."

"But Mrs. Delano! I know her very well," again interrupted Miss Perkins. "She is the leader of our set."

The young man pushed on. "It will require some twenty millions to—"

"But I thought you told me you were a civil engineer?"

"I am. My father thought a knowledge of engineering the best equipment for my life work. He is manager of the system and is beginning to throw some of his smaller responsibilities on to my shoulders. This little matter of twenty millions?"

"Are you the son of Edgar T. Dangler, the railroad king?"

"Yes, and my father sets more store by me than most fathers do by their sons, for he has only me to carry on his great work after his death. But pardon me. I'm sure I have kept you altogether too long for a mere summer acquaintance."

During these developments the beat of Miss Perkins' heart had gone down to something like forty to the minute.

She saw the opportunity of a lifetime pass without a possibility of even a clutch. Though Mr. Dangler spoke in a quiet tone, he gave no sign that Miss Perkins could even be to him more than a summer acquaintance. Coldly, but courteously, he left her.

Miss Perkins kept her room for three days; and when she reappeared looked as if she had been keel hauled. She had no heart for her winter campaign, and it was a failure. She met Mr. Dangler several times in company during the season, and on one occasion he was prosecuted to her. He did not refer to ever having met her before.

JOINT LAND AND WATER RATE.

The Control of Commerce Commission is Questioned.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The controversy over the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission as to joint rates between water and rail carriers, was threshed over at a hearing before the commission today. The hearing grows out of the ruling of the commission on May 4 last in a case where a steamboat line agreed upon joint rates with a rail carrier for certain passenger and freight traffic in which it was held that a water carrier could not unite with a railroad company in making a through route and joint rate on a particular traffic without subjecting all its interstate commerce law and to the jurisdiction of the commission. E. B. Buckland, vice president of the New Haven & Hartford railroad company, appearing on behalf of the railroad, today denied that the commission had jurisdiction over railroads in such cases, and F. S. Mastin appeared for the water carriers.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Cracks in The Floor.

Sometimes on every old or cheap floor large cracks, due to warping or splintering are found. These cracks can be filled, according to a writer in Suburban Life for October, with a paste made by soaking blotting paper in water and mixing dissolved glue with it. A little pulverized whiting added to it. A little pulverized whiting added to it. Pound and knead this to a stiff paste. Add, if necessary, a little coloring pigment to imitate wood. Apply this to the large cracks, working it in with a putty knife and smoothing the surface off even with the floor. This paste will not shrink, nor is it affected by heat or cold. With the old or new floor thus prepared, the surface is ready for treatment with oil, wax or varnish.

How Women Infatuates Man.

In the October American Magazine Professor W. I. Thomas, of Chicago university, begins a series of articles on women. On the subject of woman's power to infatuate man Professor Thomas says, in his first article:

"Man has always insisted that women shall be better than he is, or at any rate, that she shall limit her immorality to such forms as he does not greatly disapprove. There has, in fact, been developed a particular code of morals to cover the peculiar case of women. This may be called a morality of the person and of the bodily habits, as contrasted with the commercial and public morality of man. Purity, constancy, reserve, and devotion are the qualities in women which please and flatter the jealous male; and woman has responded to these demands both really and seemingly. Without any consciousness of what she is doing (for all moral traditions fall in the general psychological region of habit), she acts in the manner which makes her most pleasing to men. She also constitutes herself the most strict censor of that morality which has become traditionally associated with woman. Naively insists that her sisters shall play well within the game, and throws the first stone at any woman who bids for the favor of men by overstepping the limits of modesty. The means of attraction she employs are so highly elaborated and her technique is so finished, that she is really more active in courtship than man. By dress, modesty, coquetry, indifference and occasional boldness, and by laying low and letting the imagination of the male endow her with depth she plays at once on the protective instinct and the vanity of man, and infatuates him. To see the courtship but she controls the process."

CANADA TO OUST HINDUS

Indians to be Transported to Honduras

THE COST OF SHIPPING

To Be Borne by the Government—St. Petersburg Students Very Unruly—Police Out to Stop Row Between Different Factions.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 17.—J. B. Harkin, of the department of the interior of the Dominion government has solved the Hindu question, so far as the province of British Columbia is concerned. The entire Hindu colony, consisting of 2,000 persons, is to be moved from British Columbia to British Honduras. The plan is perfecting between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lord Strathcona, Canadian minister in London, and the governor of Honduras. Harkin left yesterday with two Hindu delegations for Honduras to arrange the details for the employment of the colony there. The Hindus are anxious to move and the imperial government will assist in the cost of transporting them to their new home. Scores of the Hindu colony are not only out of work, but actually starving. The plan is to charter two ships to carry them to Panama and send them across the isthmus, and thence to their destination.

ST. PETERSBURG STUDENTS RIOT.

Police Surrounded the University Awaiting Further Outbreaks.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—The students of the university of St. Petersburg held a meeting Thursday to discuss the continuation of the strike they have embarked on because of alleged imposition by the ministry of education, but the gathering broke up in a free fight between the opposing factions. Clubs and canes were used freely and many heads were broken. A riot call for the police was sounded, but at the intervention of the rector the police did not enter the university. The rector made a personal appeal to the students and succeeded in getting a semblance of order. Further trouble is expected. The university Thursday night was surrounded by policemen.

NOAH WEBSTER'S BIRTHDAY.

Celebrated All Through State of Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 17.—The 150th anniversary of the birth of Noah Webster, the great lexicographer, was especially celebrated by the educational institutions throughout the state yesterday. More especially was the day observed in Hartford, where he was born Oct. 16, 1758, and in New Haven, where he died May 28, 1843. At the sessions of the State Teachers' association, being held yesterday in Hartford and New Haven, special addresses were made on the life and work of Webster. Special exercises were held in the public schools here Thursday and a pilgrimage made by the scholars to the site of Webster's home at Grove and Temple streets and to his grave in Grove cemetery. The anniversary was commemorated by the Modern Literature club of Yale, which was addressed by F. Sturgis Allen, editor of the Webster International Dictionary. Much interest was centered yesterday in the exhibit of the New Haven Historical society, which possesses the deal table on which the dictionary was written and the famous Webster spelling book, his saddle bags in which he used to carry his papers during his travels about the country and the first octavo edition of the dictionary, published in 1841.

MISS ELKINS SENDS RING BACK TO ROYAL SUTOR

Package Valued at $4,000 Is Shipped to the Duke of the Abruzzi.

New York, Oct. 17.—The Washington, D. C., branch office of the Adams Express company on Monday afternoon received a package three inches long, two inches deep and about one and a half inches wide, addressed:

"The Duke of the Abruzzi, Rome Italy. Value $4,000."

The package was received at the foreign department in this city (the Morris European express) on Tuesday.

Box and contents weighed about four ounces. The package was bound with silken cords, which were sealed with red wax.

On arrival in Queenstown the box will be forwarded by the express company across the channel to Paris, and thence to its final destination in Rome. It should be in the hands of the royal sutor of Miss Elkins by Friday, October 23.

It is generally believed that the package received the betrothal ring placed on Miss Elkins' finger by the Duke, and which it now being returned with thanks. The officials of the Morris European express were astonished to learn that the fact of the shipment had become known, but admitted that the package was on its way to Rome, and that it would be delivered to the Duke of the Abruzzi.

"We never discuss the business of our clients," it was said, "and we have no actual knowledge as to whether the box contained a ruby ring or a diamond ring. The consignee is at liberty to designate the contents if he wishes, on the package itself, as well as in the receipt, and it usually is done where the contents are of the value of this particular consignment."

Senator Elkins in his home at Elkins, W. Va., said: "I never sent such a package to such an address, and no member of my family ever sent such a package. That is positive. Neither I nor any member of my family, directly or indirectly, made such a shipment. Any statement to the effect that they or I did is without the slightest shadow of truth. Absolutely, there is not the slightest justification for such a statement."

BAR COREY AT WEDDING OF HIS SISTER

Steel Magnate Will Not Be Invited to Very Quiet Ceremony.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Relative to the recent announcement of his approaching marriage to Miss Ada B. Corey, sister of William Ellis Corey of the United States Steel corporation, Dr. Charles Howard Aufhammer informed a reporter that Mr. Corey had not been and would not be invited to the wedding. He said: "Our wedding will be a very quiet affair, with probably not more than half a dozen guests. Among them will be the former wife of Mr. Corey, who is a great friend of Miss Corey, and her mother."

There is a pretty romance attached to the coming wedding, as the doctor and Miss Corey were friends when they were children. The West Chester Daily News published the following: "Miss Ada B. Corey, sister of William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, will be married on November 2 at her home at Thorndale to Dr. Charles Aufhammer, who is now a member of the staff of physicians at the Episcopal hospital. After their wedding they will make their home in Pittsburgh, where they met several years ago."

When seen at the Episcopal hospital, Dr. Aufhammer said:

"Because of the notoriety given another wedding in the family and for the sake of Miss Corey's mother, we wish no notoriety to be attached to our wedding. There will be no more than half a dozen guests, and the wedding will be at Miss Corey's home. No Mr. Corey has not been invited. I am not acquainted with him, and, in fact, have never met him. Therefore, as the wedding is to be so quiet, I feel under no obligation to invite him."

PUPILS RIDICULE SCHOOL ORDERS

Girls Bring Dolls and Boys, Tops and Marbles—Football Allowed.

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 17.—The Central high school resembled a kindergarten yesterday when the pupils, to show their contempt and ridicule for the orders of the school board that the school shall not have a football team, came to the school dressed as little children and bringing toys. Large boys in short trousers, shirt waists and big bow ties carried tops and marbles, and the girls, with their hair in pig tails, adorned with big ribbons, nursed dolls and teddy bears and played with jacks.

Immediately upon the assembling of school the boys began spinning tops and rolling marbles on the floor. Efforts to restore order were unavailing, and the senior and junior classes, among which were the chief offenders, were dismissed. The pupils gathered outside the wings of the study hall and kept the school in an uproar by loud yells of defiance. Principal H. M. Barrett finally made a talk to the pupils, and they agreed to return to the school and behave.

Members of the school board say that they will remain firm in their decision against football.

JUSTICE WENT TOO FAR.

Must Pay $1,000 For Making Girl Discob.

Clayton, Mo., Oct. 17.—A jury decided that Justice of the Peace E. C. Kroening of Gumbo must pay Miss Mary Latherton of Chesterfield $1,000 damages for making her discob. Miss Latherton testified that, while she was employed at August Emerson's, a pocket-book containing $250 was missed. Justice Kroening was summoned and made her take off all her clothing, except a short petticoat and a light waist in an attempt to find the money. The money was found later where it had been mislaid.

AGREEABLY SURPRISED

Five Minutes Later all Indigestion is Gone

CURES STOMACH MISERY

Enjoy Your Meals Without Fear of Dyspepsia or an Upset Stomach—Whatever You Eat Will Be Digested and Not Left to Ferment.

Why not start now—to-day, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good cat, then take Pape's Diapiesin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of indigestion and upset stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take gas from stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one triangle will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapiesin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolutely reliable for all stomach misery—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

The object of the suit is legally to establish Chanler's sanity and to recover his fortune, which he alleges has been confiscated by New York courts. Chanler was expected to occupy the stand all day.

HELD GUILTY OF LAND FRAUD.

A Chicago Attorney is Convicted in Omaha.

Omaha, Oct. 17.—The federal jury in the case of Frederick S. Baird, charged with attempting to defraud the government of several thousand acres of public land in Nebraska county, Neb., by means of fictitious entries, returned a verdict of guilty on six counts last night. Baird is a Chicago attorney and is the head of a Chicago Ranch company, whose members are mostly Chicago people, many being railroad men. He was indicted with Patrick J. King and Lawrence E. King, conspiracy being one of the charges. The trial of the Kings will be held later.
